1. I have been retained by attorneys representing the Plaintiff in this matter, Hermès International and Hermès of Paris, Inc. (“Hermès”). This report provides the results of surveys I conducted measuring the likelihood of confusion between Birkin bags from Hermès and MetaBirkins NFTs, which are sold by the Defendant, Mason Rothschild.

2. The opinions expressed in this report are based on materials I reviewed, research I conducted, and my experience. All aspects of my surveys were designed and carried out by me personally or under my direct supervision. I reserve the right to supplement this report in light of ongoing discovery in this matter.

Overview of My Likelihood of Confusion Surveys

3. Hermès alleges that Mr. Rothschild “is stealing the goodwill in Hermès’ famous intellectual property to create and sell his own collection of NFT products and run a business that promotes speculation in NFTs.”¹ Mr. Rothschild sells digital products in the form of non-fungible tokens (“NFTs”)² that he calls METABIRKINS, and that Hermès alleges include “nearly indistinguishable blurry images of BIRKIN handbags with minor differences in style and color.”³

4. Hermès also asserts that the NFTs from Mr. Rothschild “simply rips off Hermès’ famous BIRKIN trademark by adding the generic prefix ‘meta’ to the famous trademark BIRKIN,”⁴ and that confusion is likely because the NFTs “point to images that reflect the distinctive design of the BIRKIN handbag.”⁵ Hermès alleges that Mr. Rothschild is trying to “create the same kind of

² NFTs are digital files whose ownership and/or transaction records are stored in a decentralized manner using a public ledger called the blockchain. On the blockchain, records of ownership are clear, even if the item is digital rather than tangible, so tokens like those Mr. Rothschild sells are “non-fungible”—that is, not interchangeable. illusion that [the BIRKIN handbag] has in real life as a digital commodity,”⁶ swapping “‘real life’ rights for ‘virtual rights’,”⁷ which will “ultimately preempt Hermès’ ability to offer products and services in virtual marketplaces that are uniquely associated with Hermès and meet Hermès’ quality standards.”⁸

5. My surveys measured the likelihood of confusion, if any, between the MetaBirkins NFTs, sold by Mr. Rothschild, and Hermès, including the Birkin handbag. Specifically, my surveys measured the likelihood of confusion associated with the NFTs using elements related to Hermès’ marks, including “the famous BIRKIN Mark and HERMÈS Mark,” and the “mark for the BIRKIN handbag’s distinctive design.”⁹

6. As described in this report, I measured likelihood of confusion using the Eveready format, which is a well-accepted format for measuring likelihood of confusion.¹⁰ For example, McCarthy on Trademarks and Unfair Competition refers to Eveready as a “now-standard survey format.”¹¹ The Eveready format is commonly used, particularly with regard to well-known marks. In this matter, Hermès asserts that the name and likeness of its Birkin handbag is “famous”¹² and “iconic,”¹³ and also that the “distinctive shape and notoriety of the BIRKIN handbag has been judicially recognized around the world.”¹⁴

7. My surveys measured likelihood of confusion relative to the MetaBirkins webpage, which is located at www.metabirkins.com. This webpage advertises MetaBirkins NFTs, shows pictures and text relating to the NFTs, and provides links to online marketplaces where consumers can purchase the NFTs.¹⁵ My surveys showed this webpage to respondents and then asked questions to measure the likelihood of confusion with Hermès and Birkin handbags.

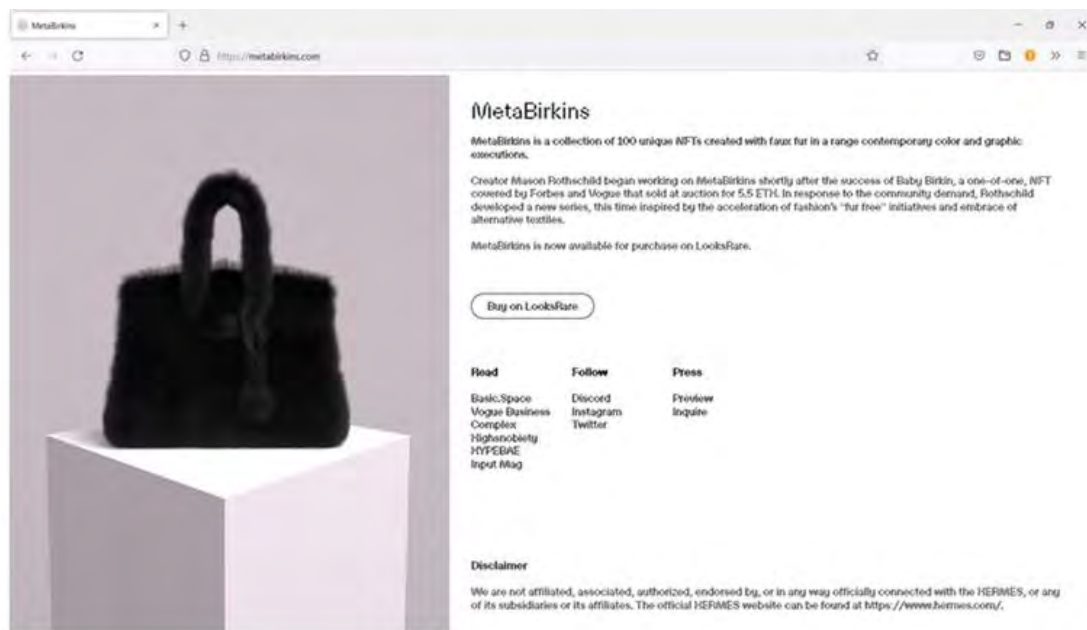

8. The surveys measured two versions of the MetaBirkins webpage. The “test version” measured the MetaBirkins webpage as consumers would encounter this page in the real world. Figure 1 below shows the test webpage, which prominently displays images of 17 MetaBirkins handbags and also describes the MetaBirkins NFTs.

9. The surveys measured the webpage in a desktop format, which showed the webpage as a consumer would see it on a device such as a desktop or laptop computer, and a mobile version, which showed the webpage as a consumer would see it on a device such as a cell phone.

10. Figure 1 shows the desktop format of the MetaBirkins webpage. In this format, when a user scrolls over a MetaBirkins handbag, words appear superimposed over the handbag in a manner that reads “NOT YOUR MOTHER’S BIRKIN” across each row of handbags. My surveys replicated this feature. Figure 2 shows MetaBirkins handbags from the webpage, with and without these words superimposed over the handbags. Exhibit 2 shows the test webpage and test handbags displayed in the surveys, in both desktop and mobile versions.

¹⁶ Due to space constraints, the MetaBirkins webpage is reproduced across multiple pages of this report. In the actual surveys, consumers saw the webpage as a single image, in a size and format similar to what they would encounter in the real world.

11. My surveys also measured an altered or “control” version of the MetaBirkins webpage. The measures from any survey can be affected by variables other than those the survey is intended to measure. For example, survey measures may be affected by pre-existing attitudes among respondents, by respondents who are hurried or inattentive, or by other types of “general background noise.”¹⁷ A control provides a means to adjust the survey measures for the effect of such extraneous influences and to isolate the effect associated with certain elements,¹⁸ which here are the elements of Mr. Rothschild’s webpage and NFTs to which Hermès objects.

12. The control version of the webpage measured in my surveys is similar to the test webpage, but the control alters elements on the MetaBirkins webpage that Hermès claims are likely to cause confusion with Hermès and/or the Birkin handbag. Specifically, the control webpage alters the following elements:

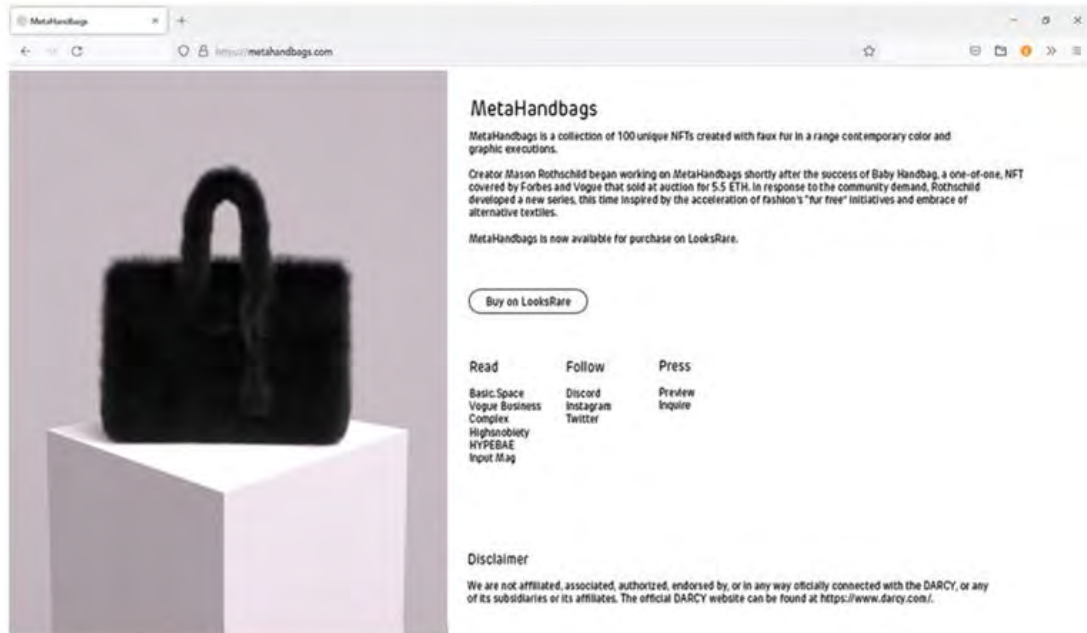

- i. Names: For the control, the word “Birkin” was changed to “Handbag” everywhere it occurred. For example, “NOT YOUR MOTHER’S BIRKIN” on the test reads “NOT YOUR MOTHER’S HANDBAG” on the control. Similarly, “MetaBirkins” was changed to “MetaHandbags.” Also, on the control, “Hermès” was changed to a fictitious control name, “Darcy.”
- ii. Shape of the Handbag: For the control, the shape of the handbags was changed to a shape that is more square, with less tapered sides and a flatter top.
- iii. Features on the Handbag: The control removed the padlock on the front of each handbag. Also, where vertical metallic lines were visible on the test handbags, the control handbags removed those lines from the front of the handbags.

14. My surveys were conducted online. As described later in this report, I conducted two surveys, involving interviews among two different audiences.

15. The confusion survey conducted among NFT purchasers reflects 201 interviews with respondents 18 years or older who, among other qualification criteria, answered that they are likely to purchase an NFT for either digital artwork or fashion apparel or accessories in the next 12 months, and would be willing to spend $2,500 or more on that NFT.

16. The confusion survey conducted among handbag purchasers reflects 164 interviews with respondents 18 years or older who, among other qualification criteria, answered that they are likely to purchase a handbag in the next 12 months, and would be willing to spend $10,000 or more on that handbag. As described later in this report, the opinions that I express in this report are based on the survey I conducted among NFT purchasers.²⁰

17. After qualification, respondents in both surveys were randomly assigned to see either the test webpage or the control webpage, but not both webpages. After seeing their assigned webpage, respondents answered questions that measured whether they believed that the items shown on the webpage were made or provided by, or sponsored, authorized, or approved by Hermès or Birkin. As is typical for Eveready surveys, respondents in my surveys were never shown any item from Hermès. They were counted as confused only if, in response to the test or control version of the MetaBirkins webpage they were shown, they mentioned Hermès or Birkin in response to any of the questions that measured confusion. Providing such a response would require that they make a connection in their mind between the MetaBirkins webpage they were shown and Hermès or Birkin.²¹

18. The following survey questions measured the likelihood of confusion:

²⁰ This report and the Exhibits to this report discuss both surveys, and provide analysis of the data from both surveys. My opinions are based only on the survey conducted among purchasers of NFTs, because that audience corresponds to the commonly accepted audience for a survey measuring forward likelihood of confusion. See Swann, Jerre B. "Likelihood of Confusion." Trademark and Deceptive Advertising Surveys: Law, Science, and Design, edited by Shari Seidman Diamond and Jerre B. Swann, ABA Publishing, 2012, p. 63.

²¹ Swann, Jerre B. "Likelihood of Confusion." Trademark and Deceptive Advertising Surveys: Law, Science, and Design, edited by Shari Seidman Diamond and Jerre B. Swann, ABA Publishing, 2012, p. 53.

- i. Question 1 asked, “What company, companies, person, or people do you think makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?”
- ii. Question 3 asked, “Are you aware of any other brands or products made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?” For those answering yes, Question 4 asked, “What other brands or products do you think are made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?”
- iii. Question 6 asked respondents whether they think that whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage they viewed is or is not sponsored, authorized, or approved by another company, person or brand. For those who answered in the affirmative, Question 7 asked, “What other company, person, or brand do you believe sponsors, authorizes, or approves whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?”

19. Questions, 2, 5, and 8 asked respondents to explain their answers, asking, “What makes you think that? Please be as specific as possible.”

20. For the confusion survey conducted among NFT purchasers, the database includes 201 interviews, with 97 interviews involving test items and 104 involving control items. Across Questions 1, 4, and 7, which measured confusion as to source and confusion as to sponsorship, authorization, or approval, 21 respondents (21.6%) shown the test version of the webpage provided a response that referred to either Hermès or Birkin. Three respondents (2.9%) shown the control webpage provided a response that referred to either Hermès or Birkin.

21. The net percentage, which is calculated as the test measure minus the control measure, is 18.7%, which is calculated as 21.6% minus 2.9%.

22. In my experience, the measures from the survey conducted among NFT purchasers would typically be viewed as indicating a substantial likelihood of confusion between the MetaBirkins webpage and Hermès or Birkin.

23. After providing background information, I will discuss both surveys in more detail.

1 My Qualifications

2 24. I am the President of MMR Strategy Group (“MMR”), a marketing research and
3 consulting firm, and am experienced in research, surveys, and marketing. During my career, I
4 have designed, conducted, and analyzed many hundreds of research studies, including many 5 surveys for matters involving intellectual property and false advertising litigation. I have
6 provided testimony, by written report and/or deposition, regarding surveys that I or others
7 conducted in approximately 100 matters.

8 25. I have testified about surveys in matters before the National Advertising Division of the 9 Better Business Bureau, federal courts, state courts, the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board
10 (TTAB), the U.S. International Trade Commission, the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, and other
11 venues and authorities. Also, I have been retained in at least 22 matters by government
12 agencies, including the U.S. Federal Trade Commission, the U.S. Department of Justice, and 13 the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

14 26. For more than 46 years, MMR Strategy Group has provided marketing research and 15 consulting, consisting primarily of the design, execution, and analysis of thousands of surveys, 16 as well as expertise related to marketing and strategy. I have been President of MMR for 17 more than 16 years. During that time, I have provided marketing research and consulting for 18 such well-known organizations as Farmers Insurance Group, Allstate Insurance, Goodyear Tire
19 & Rubber Company, Nestlé USA, Inc., RE/MAX, Kaplan Test Prep, and other organizations.

20 27. I have provided these and other companies with advice on topics such as marketing
21 products and services, managing and growing brands, sizing and segmenting markets,
22 measuring and improving customer experiences, identifying and analyzing new markets,
23 evaluating and launching new products, satisfying and retaining customers, pricing products
24 and services, and other topics relating to marketing, consumer behavior, and strategy.

25 28. I received a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering from the Technological Institute
26 at Northwestern University in 1985, and Master of Business Administration and Doctor of 27 Business Administration degrees from the Harvard Graduate School of Business
28 Administration in 1991 and 1995, respectively. At Harvard, I received my MBA with highest

1 distinction as a Baker Scholar and was a Dean's Doctoral Fellow, writing publications on
2 marketing and strategy, including best-selling teaching materials. I have won awards for
3 research I conducted from institutions including The Institute for the Study of Business
4 Markets at Penn State University and Harvard University. My education included masters-
5 level and doctoral-level coursework in marketing, research design, statistics, buyer behavior,
6 strategy, and other topics.

7 29. I have taught marketing and strategy for executive groups and executive MBA
8 programs. Since 1994, I have been on the editorial board of the Journal of Business-to-
9 Business Marketing, which publishes peer-reviewed research on business marketing. Since
10 2010, I have been a member of The Trademark Reporter Committee of the International
11 Trademark Association; TMR publishes peer-reviewed research on trademarks. I am also a 12 member of the American Marketing Association and the Insights Association (a merger of the 13 former Marketing Research Association and the former Council of American Survey Research
14 Organizations). My firm is a member of the International Trademark Association.

15 30. I regularly consult with clients regarding marketing, research, and strategy, and also 16 address conferences and groups on these issues. My public speaking includes addressing law
17 firms and bar associations on the use of surveys in litigation, and related topics. For example:

18 i. I am co-author of an article that discusses how to measure likelihood of 19 confusion and was published in the May-June 2021 edition of The Trademark
20 Reporter, a peer-reviewed journal that publishes research on trademarks.

21 ii. In March of 2020, I was a speaker at a seminar held at a law firm to discuss 22 the use of consumer perception surveys in litigation matters.

23 iii. In May of 2018, at the annual conference of the International Trademark
24 Association, I was a speaker on a panel discussing, among other topics, 25 conducting surveys to support claims on packaging and advertising for 26 litigation matters.

27 iv. In 2018, 2016, 2013, and 2010, I led roundtable discussions on litigation
28 surveys at the annual conference of the International Trademark Association.

1 v. In October of 2015, I was co-presenter for a Continuing Legal Education
2 seminar on litigation surveys sponsored by the Bar Association of San 3 Francisco.

4 vi. In March of 2015, I presented to the U.S. Department of Justice, Civil 5 Division, Commercial Litigation Branch on the topic of using surveys to 6 measure attitudes and behaviors.

7 vii. In October of 2013, I was a speaker at the Corporate Researchers Conference
8 hosted by the Marketing Research Association.

9 31. In terms of professional experience, I have been a marketing and strategy consultant
10 at The Boston Consulting Group, a global consulting firm; Senior Vice President at a publicly
11 traded data processing company that is now a division of Intuit; Division President at a media-
12 services company that is now a division of News Corporation; and Vice President responsible
13 for marketing and strategy at a financial services company. I also served as the West Coast
14 Practice Leader of an executive-education practice at a strategy-consulting firm, where I
15 developed and taught educational programs for marketing and strategy.

16 32. I have authored or co-authored more than 18 publications on the subjects of 17 marketing, surveys, and business strategy, for publications including The Trademark Reporter;
18 the Intellectual Property Law Newsletter of the American Bar Association's Section of 19 Intellectual Property Law; Intellectual Property Today; Intellectual Property Magazine; Quirk's
20 Marketing Research Review; and others. My publications have included book chapters as well
21 as teaching materials on marketing, consumer behavior, and other topics published by 22 Harvard Business Publishing and used for business school curricula.

23 33. Exhibit 1 shows my curriculum vitae and testimony experience, including but not 24 limited to matters in which I have testified as an expert during the previous four years.

Materials Reviewed and Compensation

34. For purposes of this report, I have gathered and/or reviewed a wide variety of materials, including the following:

- i. The Complaint, dated January 14, 2022, and Amended Complaint, dated March 2, 2022, as well as related Exhibits.
- ii. A Memorandum Order from the Court, dated May 18, 2022.
- iii. Data on the demographics of Hermès buyers, provided by counsel.
- iv. Visits to websites for MetaBirkins, at <https://metabirkins.com>, and Hermès, at www.hermes.com.
- v. Visits to digital marketplaces where NFTs are sold, including OpenSea at <https://opensea.io>, LooksRare at <https://looksrare.org>, and Rarible at <https://rarible.com>.
- vi. Review of other materials that discuss MetaBirkins, including an article²² and a music video.²³ Also, other materials that discuss NFTs and cryptocurrencies, including a discussion held June 27, 2022 with Professor Scott Duke Kominers, Professor of Business Administration at Harvard Business School and other materials.²⁴.

35. In addition, I consulted published literature, cases, and popular or industry press articles relevant to the issues and theories in this matter, the most relevant of which are cited in this report. I also rely on my knowledge in fields such as surveys, consumer behavior, and marketing.

36. For all activities and research described in this report, my firm billed $130,000. After this report, my time is billed at $900 per hour, with a daily rate of $7,000 per day for testimony at trial or deposition. My compensation is not dependent on the outcome of this matter.

37. The next section describes the methodology for my survey of NFT purchasers.

Methodology for the Survey of NFT Purchasers

38. Exhibit 6 shows the questions used to qualify prospective NFT purchasers for this survey, as well as the questions that measured confusion in these interviews.²⁵

39. For this survey, the demographic distribution of the survey database across gender, age, and geography reflects likely purchasers of NFTs for digital artwork, fashion apparel, or fashion accessories. These questions qualified prospective respondents for this survey:

- i. Gender: Question A asked respondents their gender. The database of respondents is 65.2% male, and 34.8% female.
- ii. Age: Question B asked respondents their age. The survey database reflects three age groups, including 18 to 34 years old (47.8% of respondents), 35 to 54 years old (47.8%), and 55 years old or older (4.5%).
- iii. Geography: Question C asked respondents for the ZIP code of their home address. The database reflects the four regions of the U.S., including Midwest (18.9% of respondents), Northeast (16.9%), South (43.8%), and West (20.4%).²⁶
- iv. Future purchase of a fashion or artwork NFT: Question D asked respondents whether they were likely to purchase certain items in the next 12 months, including a non-fungible token/NFT, a virtual private network (VPN) subscription, a virtual reality headset, and a website domain name (URL).

Among those who answered that they were likely to purchase an NFT, Question

²⁵ Exhibit 6 contains programming instructions that were not visible to respondents.

1 E asked whether they were likely to purchase certain types of NFTs.

2 Respondents qualified on Question E if they answered that they were likely to 3 purchase “An NFT for digital artwork” and/or “An NFT for fashion apparel or 4 fashion accessories.”

5 v. Amount willing to spend to purchase an NFT: Question F asked respondents
6 which price range reflected the most they would be willing to spend to purchase
7 an NFT. Respondents qualified if they selected “$2,500 - $4,999” or “$5,000 or 8 more.”

9 vi. Payment method for online purchase: Question G asked respondents which 10 payment method they would consider using for an online purchase.

11 Respondents qualified if they answered cryptocurrency and/or credit card.

12 40. Prospective respondents also were screened on other criteria, such as not working for 13 certain types of companies where they could have gained unusual knowledge,²⁷ not
14 participating in any other surveys about NFTs in the past month, and taking the survey on a 15 desktop computer, laptop computer, tablet, or smartphone.

16 41. After qualifying for the survey, NFT purchasers were instructed as follows:

17 As a reminder, if you need eyeglasses or contact lenses to see the screen clearly,
18 please put them on now.

19 Below is a webpage that you may or may not have seen before. Please look at 20 the webpage as you typically would if you came across this page online.

21 Because this is a picture of a webpage, the links in the picture are not active.

22 You may need to scroll to see all of the webpage.

23 When you are ready to proceed, click or tap the “Next” button, which will appear 24 below the webpage after a brief pause.

26
27

 ²⁷ The types of companies included an advertising or public relations agency, a marketing research
28 agency, and a company that creates or mints NFTs.

42. This survey next displayed either the test or control version of the MetaBirkins webpage. After viewing the webpage, respondents were asked whether they could see the webpage clearly. Respondents who answered that they could were then instructed as follows:

Now you will be asked a few questions about the webpage you just viewed. The webpage will appear below each question if you would like to view it again.

As before, please do not guess. If you do not know the answer to a question or do not have an opinion, please indicate that you do not know.

43. Next, the survey among NFT purchasers asked questions to measure confusion, starting with confusion as to source. Question 1 asked, "What company, companies, person, or people do you think makes or provides the items shown on the webpage? Please be as specific as possible. If you don't know, please select 'I don't know.'" Question 2 asked, "What makes you think that? Please be as specific as possible. If you don't know, please select 'I don't know.'" Both Question 1 and Question 2 were open-ended, with respondents answering in their own words or checking a box labeled "I don't know."

44. Question 3 asked, "Are you aware of any other brands or products made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage? Please answer yes, no, or you don't know."²⁸ Respondents who answered affirmatively were asked Questions 4 and 5. Question 4 asked, "What other brands or products do you think are made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage? Please be as specific as possible. If you don't know, please select 'I don't know.'" Question 5 asked, "What makes you think that? Please be as specific as possible. If you don't know, please select 'I don't know.'" Questions 4 and 5 were open-ended questions.

45. The next three questions measured confusion as to sponsorship, authorization, or approval. Question 6 asked, "Do you think that whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage..." The response options included:

²⁸ The order of "yes" and "no" in Question 3 and its answer options was rotated randomly.

- “Is sponsored, authorized, or approved by another company, person, or brand”
- “Is not sponsored, authorized, or approved by another company, person, or brand”
- “I don’t know”

46. Respondents who chose “Is sponsored...” were asked Question 7 and Question 8.

Question 7 asked, “What other company, person or brand do you believe sponsors, authorizes, or approves whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage? Please be as specific as possible. If you don’t know, please select ‘I don’t know.’” Question 8 asked, “What makes you think that? Please be as specific as possible. If you don’t know, please select ‘I don’t know.’” Question 7 and Question 8 were open-ended questions.

47. The survey of NFT purchasers was conducted online in a self-administered manner, meaning that respondents entered their own answers to questions, without any human interviewer. The survey was programmed by Simple Opinions, a provider of services to marketing research companies.²⁹

48. Prospective respondents for the survey were recruited through an online panel from Prodege, a leading marketing research sample provider that operates panels with more than 60 million panelists globally. Prodege uses a variety of quality control processes relating to panelists and responses.³⁰ Exhibit 3 provides additional information on the recruiting methods for the survey, including additional description of the panel from Prodege.

49. Respondents invited to participate in either the NFT survey or the handbag survey could not participate in the other survey.

²⁹ Information about Simple Opinions is available at <https://www.simpleopinions.com/>. The staff at Simple Opinions has decades of experience at marketing research companies that include J.D. Power and Associates, Nielsen Entertainment, and others. I and other staff at MMR checked the survey program extensively to confirm that it matched the questionnaire and programming instructions provided to Simple Opinions. Staff at Simple Opinions were never aware of the sponsor or purpose of the survey.

³⁰ Online panels are used frequently for surveys conducted in both litigation and commercial contexts. Panel companies such as the one used for this survey operate professionally managed panels, with databases of people who have indicated their willingness to take surveys from time to time. For example, Prodege uses quality control measures that include double opt-in registration, digital fingerprinting, physical address verification, device verification, CAPTCHA software, and third-party validation methods.

50. Exhibit 4 describes the quality control measures that were used during and after data gathering, including procedures to validate respondents.

51. The survey among NFT purchasers was conducted from July 8 to July 13, 2022, resulting in a database of 221 completed interviews. Of these, 20 respondents (9.0%) were removed during quality control or validation, leaving 201 NFT purchasers in the final database. This database is of more than sufficient size to be reliable.³¹

52. Exhibit 7 provides a summary indicating how many prospective respondents were screened out or removed from this survey, including the reasons for termination.

53. The next section describes my findings from this survey.

Findings From the Survey of NFT Purchasers

54. Respondents answered the questions that measured confusion in their own words. To analyze the data from these questions, I assigned codes to each verbatim response that reflected the themes that were indicated by the response.³² Exhibit 5 lists these codes.

55. I coded a response as referring to Hermès or Birkin if it mentioned Hermès, Birkin handbags, or any name or product that likely referred to Hermès or Birkin handbags, in any spelling. I counted these responses as confused, because they mentioned Hermès or Birkin when shown the MetaBirkins webpage. I coded responses as referring to MetaBirkins or Mr. Rothschild if they referred to MetaBirkins or Mason Rothschild, in any spelling.

³¹ For surveys such as this one, statistics can provide general indicators of reliability. (See Diamond, Shari Seidman. "Reference Guide on Survey Research." Reference Manual on Scientific Evidence, 3rd ed., National Academies Press, 2011, pp. 382-383.) (The margin of error at the 95% level of confidence is approximately $(SE \times 1.96)$, where SE refers to the survey's standard error.) See also Moore, David S., et al. "Chapter 8: Inference for Proportions." Introduction to the Practice of Statistics, 6th ed., W.H. Freeman and Company, 2009, pp. 487-524.) For example, the survey's test measure of 21.6%, at a sample size of 97 respondents, has a margin of error of approximately $\pm 8.2\%$.

³² For the survey, MMR staff working at my direction assisted with coding. I have personally reviewed or assigned every code for every survey response from the survey.

56. Exhibit 8 provides cross tabulation tables, which show an analysis of all questions asked of NFT purchasers. Exhibit 12 shows all responses from all NFT purchasers, including a data map indicating which responses correspond to each variable in the database.

57. This section summarizes key results from the survey conducted among NFT purchasers, including results for confusion as to source (Questions 1 and 4) and for confusion as to sponsorship, authorization, or approval (Question 7).

58. Question 1 asked respondents who they think makes or provides the items on the webpage they were shown. Table A summarizes the results from Question 1.

Table A:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Results From Question 1

Q.1 Who do you think makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?	Test Webpage	Control Webpage
Sample size	97	104
Hermès or Birkin	17.5%	1.9%
MetaBirkins or Rothschild	51.5%	17.3%
Another clothing company, media company, or retailer ³³	13.4%	10.6%
Another technology company ³⁴	12.4%	23.1%
MetaHandbags ³⁵	0.0%	23.1%
Other	8.2%	14.4%
I don't know	10.3%	16.3%

³³ Includes responses that referenced another clothing company, media company, or retailer, such as Gucci, Chanel, Vogue, Elle, Forbes, Walmart, Target, or others.

³⁴ Includes responses that referenced another technology company, such as Facebook, Meta, Microsoft, or others.

³⁵ Among other changes, the control changed "MetaBirkins" to "MetaHandbags."

59. Table A shows that in response to Question 1, 17.5% of NFT purchasers shown the test version of the MetaBirkins webpage provided a response that reflected Hermès and/or Birkin, compared with 1.9% among those shown the control version. Table A also shows that 51.5% of NFT purchasers shown the test webpage, and 17.3% of NFT purchasers shown the control webpage, mentioned MetaBirkins or Rothschild. The table shows that these respondents also mentioned clothing companies, media companies, retailers, and technology companies in response to Question 1.

60. Examples of verbatim responses that reflect Hermès and/or Birkin from NFT purchasers shown the test webpage include the following:

- i. ID #2: “Birkins is the company that makes these NFT”
- ii. ID #14: “looksrare and hermes”
- iii. ID #18: “Based on descriptions disclaimer it’s Hermès Birkin bags, or MetaBirkins”
- iv. ID #71: “birkins”
- v. ID #83: “The company is Birkin, you can see the brand clearly”
- vi. ID #141: “Birkin”
- vii. ID #169: “MetaBirkin, Hermes, Forbes, Vogue”
- viii. ID # 209: “HERMES.COM”

61. Question 2 asked, “What makes you think that?” Table B below shows the results from Question 2.

Table B:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Results From Question 2

Q.2 What makes you think that?	Test Webpage	Control Webpage
Sample size	97	104
The look or appearance ³⁶	11.3%	8.7%
Personal experience or general knowledge ³⁷	11.3%	8.7%
It says so ³⁸	46.4%	43.3%
Other	19.6%	18.3%
I don't know	4.1%	7.7%

62. Table B shows that the theme most commonly reflected by responses to Question 2 was "It says so," which was mentioned by 46.4% of NFT purchasers shown the test webpage and 43.3% of those shown the control webpage.

63. Examples of Question 2 responses reflecting this theme from NFT purchasers shown the test version of the MetaBirkins webpage include the following:

- i. ID #8: "I've read the description"
- ii. ID #35: "because they mention it at the beginning of the catalog"
- iii. ID #58: "I read this"
- iv. ID #71: "because of the name birkins"
- v. ID #73: "It's at the top of the page"

64. Table B also shows that verbatim responses from 11.3% of those shown the test webpage and 8.7% of those shown the control webpage reflected the theme of personal experience or general knowledge. Examples of Question 2 responses from NFT purchasers shown the test webpage that reflect this theme include the following:

³⁶ Includes responses that referenced the look, the appearance, colors, or style of the handbags on the webpage.

³⁷ Includes responses that referenced seeing the bags before, reading about the topics elsewhere, or having some previous knowledge of the subject matter.

³⁸ Includes responses that referenced reading the information on the webpage.

- i. ID #15: “Hermes bags are known or famous for their Birkin bags”
- ii. ID #45: “I have heard this from Yahoo finance news.”
- iii. ID #101: “Because I have a little background knowledge about the Burlington bag”
- iv. ID #115: “BECAUSE HAVE SIMILAR PRODUCT”
- v. ID #202: “I see a lot of purse and I know what Birkins are.”

65. Next, Question 3 asked NFT purchasers whether they are aware of any other brands or products made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage.

Table C below summarizes the results for Question 3.

Table C:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Results From Question 3

Q.3 Are you aware of any other brands or products made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?	Test Webpage	Control Webpage
Sample size	97	104
Yes, I am aware of other brands or products made or provided by whoever makes or provides these items	51.5%	46.2%
No, I am not aware of other brands or products made or provided by whoever makes or provides these items	41.2%	50.0%
I don't know	7.2%	3.8%

66. As shown in Table C, 51.5% of NFT purchasers shown the test webpage, and 46.2% of those shown the control webpage, answered affirmatively to Question 3.

67. Question 4 asked respondents who answered yes to Question 3 what other brands or products they think are made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage. Table D below summarizes the results from Question 4. The results are provided on an unduplicated basis, meaning that NFT purchasers who mentioned a theme in response to Question 1 are not counted again in the results for the same theme in Question 4.

Table D:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Results From Question 4 (Unduplicated)³⁹

Q.4 What other brands or products do you think are made or provided by whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?	Test Webpage	Control Webpage
Sample size	97	104
Hermès or Birkin	4.1%	1.0%
MetaBirkins or Rothschild	4.1%	1.9%
Another clothing company, media company, or retailer ⁴⁰	3.1%	1.0%
Another technology company ⁴¹	4.1%	5.8%
MetaHandbags ⁴²	0.0%	1.0%
Other	8.2%	17.3%
I don't know	8.2%	5.8%

68. As shown in Table D, an additional 4.1% of NFT purchasers shown the test version of the webpage provided a response that mentioned Hermès and/or Birkin, compared with an additional 1.0% of those shown the control version. Among those shown the test webpage, an additional 4.1% provided a response reflecting MetaBirkins or Rothschild, compared to an additional 1.9% of those shown the control webpage.

69. Question 5 asked, “What makes you think that?” Table E below shows the results from Question 5. The results are provided on an unduplicated basis, meaning that NFT purchasers who mentioned a theme in response to Question 2 are not counted again in the results for the same theme in Question 5.

³⁹ This table reflects respondents who did not mention the same theme in response to Question 1.

⁴⁰ Includes responses that referenced another clothing company, media company, or retailer, such as Gucci, Chanel, Vogue, Elle, Forbes, Walmart, Target, or others.

⁴¹ Includes responses that referenced another technology company, such as Facebook, Meta, Microsoft, or others.

⁴² Among other changes, the control changed “MetaBirkins” to “MetaHandbags.”

Table E:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Results From Question 5 (Unduplicated)⁴³

Q.5 What makes you think that?	Test Webpage	Control Webpage
Sample size	97	104
The look or appearance ⁴⁴	6.2%	1.9%
Personal experience or general knowledge ⁴⁵	6.2%	6.7%
It says so ⁴⁶	0.0%	2.9%
Other	3.1%	4.8%
I don't know	8.2%	1.9%

70. Table E shows that an additional 6.2% of NFT purchasers shown the test webpage provided a response that reflected personal experience or general knowledge, compared with an additional 6.7% of those shown the control webpage.

71. The next series of questions measured confusion as to sponsorship, authorization, or approval. Question 6 asked NFT purchasers whether they think that whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage is sponsored, authorized, or approved by another company, person, or brand. Table F below summarizes the results from Question 6.

⁴³ This table reflects respondents who did not mention the same theme in response to Question 2.

⁴⁴ Includes responses that referenced the look, the appearance, colors, or style of the handbags on the webpage.

⁴⁵ Includes responses that referenced seeing the bags before, reading about the topics elsewhere, or having some previous knowledge of the subject matter.

⁴⁶ Includes responses that referenced reading the information on the webpage.

Table F:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Results From Question 6

Q.6 Do you think that whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage...?	Test Webpage	Control Webpage
Sample size	97	104
Is sponsored, authorized, or approved by another company, person or brand	60.8%	56.7%
Is not sponsored, authorized, or approved by another company, person or brand	25.8%	30.8%
I don't know	13.4%	12.5%

72. As shown in Table F, 60.8% of NFT purchasers shown the test webpage answered affirmatively to Question 6, compared with 56.7% of those shown the control webpage.

73. Question 7 asked respondents who answered affirmatively to Question 6 what company, person, or brand they believe sponsors, authorizes, or approves whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage. Table G below summarizes the results on an unduplicated basis, meaning that respondents who mentioned a theme in response to Questions 1 or 4 are not counted again for the same theme in Question 7.

Table G:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Results From Question 7 (Unduplicated)⁴⁷

Q.7 What other company, person, or brand do you believe sponsors, authorizes, or approves whoever makes or provides the items shown on the webpage?	Test Webpage	Control Webpage
Sample size	97	104
Hermès or Birkin	0.0%	0.0%
MetaBirkins or Rothschild	1.0%	2.9%
Another clothing company, media company, or retailer ⁴⁸	3.1%	5.8%

MetaHandbags ⁵⁰	0.0%	2.9%
Other	6.2%	5.8%
I don't know	17.5%	9.6%

74. As shown in Table G, no (0.0%) additional NFT purchasers shown the test or control webpages provided a response to Question 7 that reflected Hermès and/or Birkin. Table G also shows that an additional 1.0% of respondents shown the test webpage provided a response that reflected MetaBirkins or Rothschild, compared with an additional 2.9% of those shown the control webpage.

75. Table H below shows the results from Question 8, which asked, “What makes you think that?” Table H below summarizes the results on an unduplicated basis, meaning that respondents who mentioned a theme in response to Questions 2 or 5 are not counted again for the same theme in Question 8.

⁴⁷ This table reflects respondents who did not mention the same theme in response to Questions 1 or 4.

⁴⁸ Includes responses that referenced another clothing company, media company, or retailer, such as Gucci, Chanel, Vogue, Elle, Forbes, Walmart, Target, or others.

⁴⁹ Includes responses that referenced another technology company, such as Facebook, Meta, Microsoft, or others.

⁵⁰ Among other changes, the control changed “MetaBirkins” to “MetaHandbags.”

Table H:

76. Table H shows that an additional 3.1% of NFT purchasers shown the test webpage provided a response reflecting “It says so,” compared with an additional 5.8% of those shown the control version of the webpage.

77. Table I summarizes this survey’s confusion measures across Questions 1, 4, and 7, providing the percentage of NFT purchasers who provided responses to any of these questions that mentioned Hermès and/or Birkin.

⁵¹ This table reflects respondents who did not mention the same theme in response to Questions 2 or 5.

⁵² Includes responses that referenced the look, the appearance, colors, or style of the handbags on the webpage.

⁵³ Includes responses that referenced seeing the bags before, reading about the topics elsewhere, or having some previous knowledge of the subject matter.

⁵⁴ Includes responses that referenced reading the information on the webpage.

Table I:
Survey of NFT Purchasers,
Summary of Confusion Measures Across Questions 1, 4, and 7 (Unduplicated)⁵⁵

Mentions of Hermès and/or Birkin	Test Webpage	Control Webpage	Net⁵⁶
Sample size	97	104
Confusion as to source (Q.1)	17.5%	1.9%	15.6%
Confusion as to other brands or products (Q.4)	4.1%	1.0%	3.1%
Confusion as to sponsorship, authorization, or approval (Q.7)	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%
Likelihood of confusion (Q.1, 4, and 7)	21.6%	2.9%	18.7%

78. As shown in Table I, for NFT purchasers, across Questions 1, 4, and 7, the likelihood of confusion measure is 21.6% for the test version of the webpage and 2.9% for the control version of the webpage. The net likelihood of confusion measure is 18.7%, which is calculated as 21.6% minus 2.9%.

⁵⁵ Unduplicated means that if a respondent mentioned or referenced a theme in one question, they were not counted as confused more than once, even if they mentioned the same theme in subsequent questions.

⁵⁶ Net is calculated as test minus control.

Methodology and Findings for the Survey of Handbag Purchasers

79. As described earlier, I also conducted a survey among respondents qualified as purchasing handbags.

80. Exhibit 9 shows the questions used to qualify prospective respondents for the survey of handbag purchasers, as well as the questions that measured confusion in this survey.⁵⁷

81. As with the survey of NFT purchasers, prospective respondents for the survey of handbag purchasers were first asked Questions A, B, and C, which asked about gender, age, and geography. For the survey of handbag purchasers, the demographic distribution of the survey database across gender, age, and geography reflects likely purchasers of handbags.

82. Next, Question D asked prospective respondents for this survey whether they were likely to purchase certain items in the next 12 months, including a handbag, a belt, a pair of shoes, a wallet, and a watch.

83. Among those who answered that they were likely to purchase a handbag, Question E asked prospective respondents for this survey to select the price range that best reflects the most they would be willing to spend to purchase a handbag. Handbag purchasers qualified on Question E if they answered that they were likely to purchase at a price range of $10,000 or more. The survey qualified on this price point because it is the lowest price at which I was able to locate the Birkin bag for sale.⁵⁸

⁵⁷ Exhibit 9 contains programming instructions that were not visible to respondents.

⁵⁸ My research shows that Birkin bags are in high demand, typically sell in new condition for at least $10,000, and are available on the resale market for approximately $6,000 to $60,000, depending on the bag and its condition. See Sargon, Sara. "The 2021 & 2022 Hermes Birkin Bag Price List." Bagover, <https://bagover.com/hermes-birkin-bag-price-list/>, last accessed August 1, 2022. See also Marinelli, Gina. "Hermes Birkin bags are famously expensive and difficult to buy — so we asked an expert how to find them and what makes them so elusive." Business Insider, <https://www.insider.com/guides/style/how-to-buy-a-birkin-bag>, last accessed August 1, 2022. 84. Question F asked prospective respondents for this survey which types of content they typically read online. Respondents who answered that they typically read content online about fashion and/or artwork qualified on Question F.

85. Similar to the survey of NFT purchasers, prospective respondents for the survey of handbag purchasers also qualified on other criteria, such as not working for certain types of companies where they could have gained unusual knowledge,⁵⁹ not participating in any other surveys about handbags in the past month, and taking the survey on a desktop computer, laptop computer, tablet, or smartphone.

86. After respondents qualified for the survey of handbag purchasers, they were shown the same images that were shown in the survey of NFT purchasers, and then were asked the same questions that were used to measure confusion in the survey of NFT purchasers. I analyzed the responses from the survey of handbag purchasers using the same codes that I used to analyze responses from the survey of NFT purchasers. For the data from handbag purchasers, I assigned codes to each verbatim response according to the themes that were reflected by the response, using the codes from Exhibit 5 and the analysis methods described earlier for NFT purchasers.⁶⁰

87. As with the survey of NFT purchasers, the survey of handbag purchasers was conducted online in a self-administered manner, using an online survey programmed by Simple Opinions. Also, as with the survey of NFT purchasers, respondents for the survey of handbag purchasers were recruited from a panel provided by Prodege, using the recruiting methods described in Exhibit 3 and the quality control methods described in Exhibit 4. Respondents invited to participate in the NFT survey or the handbag survey could not participate in the other survey.

⁵⁹ The types of companies included an advertising or public relations agency, a marketing research agency, and a company manufactures handbags.

⁶⁰ For the survey, MMR staff working at my direction assisted with coding. I have personally reviewed or assigned every code for every survey response from the survey.

1 88. Interviews for the survey of handbag purchasers were conducted from July 8 to July 17,
2 2022, resulting in a database of 185 completed interviews. Of these, 21 respondents (11.4%)
3 were removed during quality control or validation, leaving 164 handbag purchasers in the final 4 database.

5 89. Exhibit 10 provides a summary indicating how many prospective respondents were 6 screened out or removed from the survey of handbag purchasers, including the reasons for 7 termination.

8 90. Exhibit 11 provides cross tabulation tables for the survey of handbag purchasers.
9 Exhibit 13 shows all responses from all handbag purchasers, including a data map indicating 10 which responses correspond to each variable in the database.

11 91. My opinions in this matter are based on the survey of NFT purchasers rather than the 12 survey of handbag purchasers because Hermès has made allegations in this matter that are 13 consistent with forward confusion. For example, Hermès alleges that the Defendant's actions 14 are "likely to cause confusion and mistake in the minds of the public, leading the public to 15 believe that the METABIRKINS NFTs emanate or originate from Hermès, or that Hermès has 16 approved, sponsored or otherwise associated itself with Defendant, which is untrue."⁶¹ The 17 traditional audience for a survey measuring forward likelihood of confusion is the junior user's
18 audience, which in this matter is purchasers of the Defendant's goods and services.⁶²

Summary and Conclusions for the Survey of NFT Purchasers

92. As described in this report, my survey of NFT purchasers measured whether the MetaBirkins webpage is likely to be confused with Hermès and/or with Birkin handbags. This survey measured the MetaBirkins webpage as it appears in the marketplace, and also measured a control webpage, which was modified to remove or alter features that relate to marks Hermès has asserted in this matter, including the Birkin trade dress and name. The test and control webpages were similar in all other aspects.

93. After showing respondents either the test webpage or the control webpage, the survey of NFT purchasers asked questions to measure the likelihood of confusion as to source and as to sponsorship, authorization, or approval. Across those questions, the measures were 21.6% for the test webpage and 2.9% for the control webpage, for a net measure of 18.7%.

94. The MetaBirkins webpage includes elements that Hermès alleges infringe its intellectual property; the changes to the control webpage removed or modified those elements. Therefore, the net confusion measure reflects only the elements Hermès alleges infringe its intellectual property, and not any other influences.

95. The 18.7% net measure from the survey of NFT purchasers is at or above measures that are typically interpreted as indicating a substantial likelihood of confusion.⁶³ Based on these results, this survey indicates a likelihood of confusion between the MetaBirkins webpage at www.metabirkins.com, and Hermès or Birkin handbags.

⁶³ “An ‘appreciable’ number is not necessarily a majority, and in fact can be much less than a majority... one court indicated that even 11% of a national market of millions of consumers constitutes a very large number of confused consumers.” McCarthy, J. Thomas. “§ 82:185 Likelihood of confusion – Evaluating the significance of survey results – An ‘appreciable’ number.” McCarthy on Trademarks and Unfair Competition, 5th ed., Thomson Reuters, 2021, pp. 32-546 to 32-547.

DR. BRUCE R. ISAACSON, DBA, MBA

MMR Strategy Group, Encino, CA
PRESIDENT

2005 - Present

MMR provides surveys, analysis, and consulting to measure the attitudes and behaviors of customers and consumers. MMR has three practice areas:

1. Claim Substantiation: Research and consulting to substantiate claims that involve consumer perceptions, and are made in packages, advertising, and other types of marketplace communications.
2. Litigation Surveys: Surveys and testimony for intellectual property matters.
3. Marketing Research and Consulting: Marketing research and consulting to help clients grow sales, develop marketing strategies, and improve products and services.

As President, I design studies, manage research projects, and provide consulting relating to marketing, research, consumer behavior, and strategy.

I have conducted many hundreds of surveys during my career, and frequently provide surveys, testimony, and rebuttals for intellectual property litigation and claim substantiation.

I have provided testimony relating to litigation surveys in a wide variety of venues involving federal courts, state courts, the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB), the National Advertising Division (NAD) of the Better Business Bureau, the International Trade Commission, the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, the Federal Trade Commission, the Court of Federal Claims, and others.

I have been retained in more than 200 matters, and have been retained in more than 20 matters by government agencies including the U.S. Federal Trade Commission, the U.S. Department of Justice, and the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

I speak and write on topics relating to marketing research, marketing strategy, litigation surveys, and consumer behavior.

Test and Control Images Displayed in the Surveys

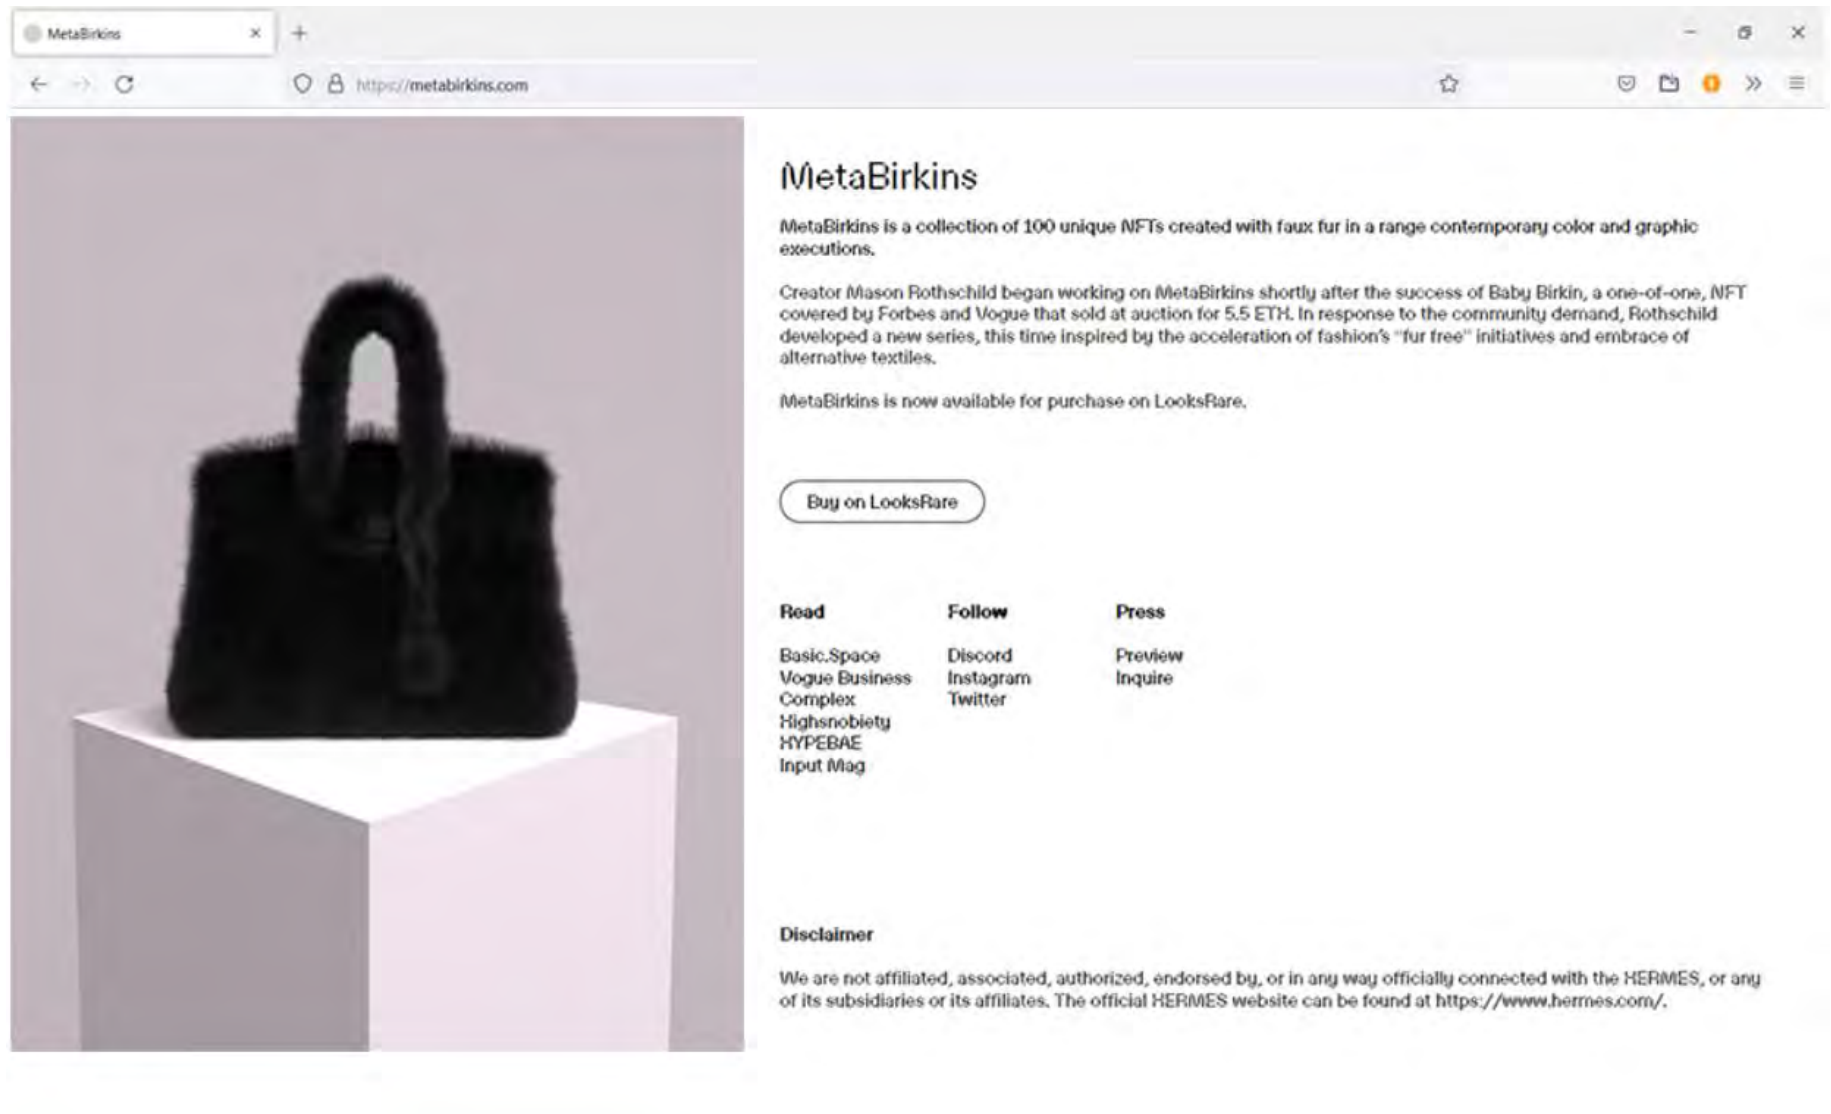

This exhibit provides the following images:

1. The test and control webpages displayed in the surveys, in versions for desktop or laptop computers, and for mobile devices.
2. The test and control versions of the MetaBirkins handbags displayed in the surveys, with and without superimposed words.

The images in this exhibit extend across multiple pages. In the surveys, each image was shown to respondents as one continuous webpage, similar to how they would view it online.

Also, this exhibit provides titles and labels, such as “Test Webpage” or “Control Webpage,” that were not shown in the surveys.

MetaBirkins

MetaBirkins is a collection of 100 unique NFTs created with faux fur in a range contemporary color and graphic executions.

Creator Mason Rothschild began working on MetaBirkins shortly after the success of Baby Birkin, a one-of-one, NFT covered by Forbes and Vogue that sold at auction for 5.5 ETH. In response to the community demand, Rothschild developed a new series, this time inspired by the acceleration of fashion's "fur free" initiatives and embrace of alternative textiles.

MetaBirkins is now available for purchase on LooksRare.

Exhibit 3:
Recruiting Methods and Panel Description for the Surveys

Recruiting Methods and Panel Description for the Surveys

This Exhibit provides information about the recruiting methods for all interviews in both surveys, including interviews conducted among NFT purchasers and among Handbag purchasers. The Exhibit also describes the panel used to locate prospective survey respondents.¹

Survey respondents were recruited from a panel operated by a company called Prodege. Prodege's panel includes millions of consumers globally who have enrolled to become prospective survey respondents from time to time. Panel members are recruited from a wide variety of sources, and the panel can represent the general population of the United States according to demographics such as gender, age, geography, and other variables.

Prodege uses a variety of quality control methods to confirm that respondents are real consumers, and to encourage honest responses in surveys. The following are examples of their quality control methods:

- i. Digital Fingerprinting: Digital fingerprinting records information from the devices that panel members use to complete a survey, to identify attempts to take a survey more than once from a single device.

¹ Information regarding Prodege, its panel, and its quality control methods is based on information from the company as well as the pages from their panel book included in this exhibit.

- ii. Third-Party Verification: Third-party identity verification matches information from panel members to information available from other sources, which might include other websites (such as LinkedIn), the U.S. Postal Service (for address information), or other third-party information sources.
- iii. Response Time Checks: Response time checks look for respondents who complete a survey in an unusual amount of time. Respondents who finish a survey suspiciously quickly are removed from the survey. Respondents identified in this manner in a number of surveys can be eliminated from the panel.
- iv. Panel Profile Checks: Prodege maintains a database with certain information about a panel member, such as demographics. Respondents identified as providing responses inconsistent with this information in a number of surveys can be eliminated from the panel.

Each prospective respondent was recruited either for the survey conducted among NFT purchasers or the survey conducted among Handbag purchasers. Respondents who were recruited for one survey were not recruited for the other survey, so respondents who participated in one survey did not participate in the other survey.

For both surveys, Prodege recruited panel members either with an email invitation, or through the panel's survey dashboard or portal. The sponsor and subject of each survey were not disclosed, so respondents remained blind as to the purpose and sponsor of the surveys. All prospective respondents for either survey answered the same qualification questions relating to that survey, and passed through the same qualification procedures relating to that survey.

As described in the main body of the report, prospective respondents qualified for either survey by answering a series of qualifying questions. Prospective respondents were not asked any pre-screening questions for either survey, and were not targeted based on pre-existing profile information, other than demographic characteristics (gender, age, and geography) for quota purposes. For example, respondents who had a home address located outside of the United States were not invited into either survey.

The remainder of this exhibit provides additional information about Prodege from selected pages of their “panel book,” which describes the company’s panel, recruiting methods, and quality control procedures.

Frequently Asked Questions

What steps do you take to achieve a representative sample of the target population?

Through our wide range of recruitment channels and offerings, Prodege ensures a diverse composition of people that represent the population required. We maintain a database of over 1,000 demographic and behavioral attributes that are utilized to access sample for our clients' projects. Our experienced Project Management Team starts by understanding our clients' requirements (e.g. a nationally representative sample, or a specific targeted group) and the number of responses needed, ensuring the sample plan is optimized and executed accurately.

What profiling data is held on respondents and how is it kept up-to-date? If no relevant profiling data is held, how are low incidence projects addressed?

Prodege tracks and stores thousands of demographic and behavioral attributes through several channels, including completion of a 20-question profiling survey upon joining the panel. In addition, our members participate in our Daily Poll in which we receive up to 100,000 unique responses in a day which are then appended to their profile. Behavioral data is collected through member engagement with our Search, Offers and Shopping channels to create additional data points passively. If a project requires targeting on criteria not currently captured in member profiles, we can prescreen in real-time and gather tens of thousands of responses within a matter of hours.

Member profiles are updated on an ongoing basis, with continuous refreshing to ensure data remains current. Utilizing our proprietary technology, member data is collected and stored real-time during the registration process, in follow-up surveys, and on the member website. Members can proactively update their profile at any time, or we may send out push notifications letting them know their profile is not complete, or needs updating. Additionally, profiling data collected in a survey can be sent to our database and updated real-time.

What are your quality process? Do you have in place procedures to reduce or eliminate undesired within survey behaviors, such as (a) random responding, (b) Illogical or inconsistent responding, (c) overuse of item non-response, or (d) speeding?

At Prodege, we take data quality very seriously. We have our own in-house compliance department dedicated to monitoring and eliminating fraudulent panel members. We combine industry-standard data quality solutions provided by third-party partners, along with our own proprietary techniques to ensure our panel exceeds industry standards. Observed offenders are removed from the panel and not allowed to re-register with the panel.

When we are not providing survey programming for a project, we implement speeder and straightliner traps, honesty and engagement detection and review open-ended responses. Panelists who fail quality metrics are removed and/or replaced, so clients do not pay for poor quality survey completes. These members are then flagged, and monitored within our panel. Any repeat offenders are removed from our panel.

Do you have a confirmation of respondent identity procedure?
Do you have procedures to detect fraudulent respondents?

Prodege has a series of processes to handle member identity and detect fraud. To confirm respondent identities, we work with third-party industry standard data quality solutions to ensure a member is real and unique upon registration. Members are subject to a double opt-in process by initially joining, then opt-in again to join the research panel. Members cannot enroll more than once, meaning they cannot have more than one profile account in the panel database.

In addition, our in-house compliance department continuously monitors fraud and eliminates threats. This may result in removing panel members or shutting out alien technologies caught cheating the system. As part of our reward verification procedure, Prodege's compliance team has also implemented IP address and mobile phone verification. We continue to evaluate and/or implement additional data quality procedures as new capabilities emerge.

To avoid panelist duplication, we have a dedicated compliance team that continuously monitors our users to prevent fraud. To avoid duplication when supplementing with external sources, we employ proprietary and 3rd party digital fingerprinting technologies.

Exhibit 4:
Quality Control Measures for the Surveys

Quality Control Measures for the Surveys

Both likelihood of confusion surveys included a number of quality control measures. Those measures, which were implemented in interviews conducted among NFT purchasers and those conducted among Handbag purchasers, are described below.

1. Both surveys followed “double-blind” interviewing procedures, where respondents did not know key details such as the sponsor or true purpose of the surveys.
2. The surveys were pre-tested. Before starting either survey, a small number of interviews for the survey were conducted online and the data were examined to confirm that responses were recorded properly, that survey skip patterns were followed accurately, and that responses showed an understanding of the questions. Because no changes were made after either pre-test, the interviews from the pre-tests are included in the survey databases.
3. During qualification, qualifying responses were hidden among other, non-qualifying responses. This reduced the likelihood that respondents would guess the answers that would qualify or not qualify them for the surveys.
4. Respondents were instructed not to guess, and survey questions included “I don’t know” options to discourage respondents from selecting other responses that may not accurately represent their opinions.
5. Certain question text and responses were rotated to reduce the possibility of order bias, which may occur if respondents are more likely to select a response in a particular position, such as first or last listed response. For example, the order of responses was rotated or randomized in Questions D, E, F, G, H, I, K, M, 3, and 6 of the survey conducted among NFT purchasers; and in Questions D, E, F, G, H, J, L, 3, and 6 of the survey conducted among Handbag purchasers. Each respondent saw responses to those questions in an order that varied across respondents, with “I don’t know” presented last.

6. Both surveys included a quality control question. Question J of the survey conducted among NFT purchasers, and Question I of the survey conducted among Handbag purchasers, asked respondents to select the number seven from a list of numbers. Only respondents who selected the proper number continued in the survey.
7. For both surveys, respondents were required to enter their ZIP code at least twice, once in Question C, and again in Question 9 and/or Question 10. Respondents who provided ZIP codes in Questions 9 and 10 that did not match the ZIP code provided in Question C were terminated from the survey.
8. After the interviews were conducted, the amount of time each respondent took to complete their survey was reviewed to confirm that the survey was completed in a reasonable amount of time. Respondents who completed their survey in an unusually short or an unusually long amount of time were removed.
9. At the end of each survey (Question 11 in both surveys), respondents were asked to agree or disagree with the following statement: "I am the person who was invited to participate in this survey. I completed this survey myself, without assistance or advice from any other person or source, and in accordance with the instructions provided in the survey. The answers I have provided are truthful expressions of my situation and opinions." Respondents who did not agree with this statement were terminated from the survey.

10. Respondents were recruited through a panel that maintains some pre-existing information about potential respondents. As an additional validation step, survey responses for gender (Question A in both surveys) and age (Question B in both surveys) were compared with pre-existing panel data. Respondents who provided answers that did not match existing panel data for age or gender were terminated. All respondents in the final databases were validated in this manner.¹

Qualifying Questions:

[DO NOT TARGET OR PRE-SCREEN, EXCEPT TO MEET DEMOGRAPHIC QUOTAS.]
[DO NOT ALLOW RESPONDENTS TO GO BACK TO ANY PREVIOUS QUESTION.]

Thank you for agreeing to participate in this survey. If you need eyeglasses or contact lenses to see the screen clearly, please wear them to complete the survey. Answer every question honestly and to the best of your ability. There are no right or wrong answers; we are only interested in your opinions.

On any question, if you don't know how to answer, it is all right to indicate that you don't know or you are not sure. Do not guess and do not consult any other person or source, such as the Internet, while you complete this survey.

Once you start the survey, please complete it in one session without interruption. Also, do not use your browser's Back button to try to return to a prior question, as this will terminate your survey.

Click or tap "Next" to begin the survey.

88	The ad itself tells you who created the bags. Doesnt really say what company he is using but they are sold on a national website		3		1	He also has the baby handbags that were created before		9
89	I read it		3		2
90	It says in the description that Mason Rothschild is the creator		3		1	Baby Handbag, the NFT covered handbags.		9
91	The website is meta		3		1	Looks rare		4
93	Because the name is at the top of the website so I think its the name of the company		3		2
94	it says it as i mouse over the icons .		3		1	meta is a metaverse, they are full of products .		4
95	Metahandbags from Meta. The name seems connected to Meta which could be from former Facebook		3		2
96	The description on the page credits Mason Rothschild as the creator and indicates MetaBirkins will be available to purchase via LooksRare.		3		1	Mason Rothschild has been involved in and/or created other NFT projects and LooksRare is a somewhat well known NFT platform.		2	4
